Correction from last week bulletin: Louise Martin and Bill Lloyd will be on David Lile's show on 1400AM KFRU Thursday, Feb. 1st at 7:20 a.m to promote Pancake Day, not Louise and Barrett, as was previously reported.

The Ashland Chamber of Commerce met at the Optimist building on Thursday, Jan. 25 for their annual social with 40 people in attendance. The Ashland Optimist Club was presented the Lahmon Wren Outstanding Service Award. Lahmon was a long-time member of our club and an important member of the community, so this is a huge honor for our club!

Friday was an $1,199 night, with 153 players who tried to clean out the kitchen. We were blessed to have Steve Long, Mark Wanserski, Jordan Helms, and Janet Popejoy helping the regulars in the kitchen when we were short-handed.

Today's Program: Our speaker this morning was Todd Pridemore, who wears many hats. His job is with the Baptist Home that is being built north of Ashland, but his favorite hats involve being a soccer dad to his third-grade son, Titus, who joined him for breakfast and being listed as a local hunting pro with Bass Pro in Columbia.

Todd started hunting when he was close to Titus' age when his older brother, Dan, would take him out turkey hunting. Todd sees hunting as an opportunity to connect with family and friends and shared several stories of the enjoyment he has received through hunting over the years. Todd is a published author with stories about hunting and fishing in magazines and newspapers.

When Todd was finished speaking, Titus shared stories from their hunting and fishing trips before drawing for our Attendance Drawing. Titus kept it short when the first number he drew was Charlie Selbach's and after some controversy over whether there had been any coercion, Charlie was heard to say, "It pays to attend!"

Because this was the last meeting of the month, Barrett awarded the Poker Pot, which had extended through December and January because of weather closings. Many people had excellent hands, but Rick Gowdy beat them all with four tens.

The Sunrise Optimists will hold their pancake breakfast on Feb. 27 in Harrisburg. We usually try to send a group up to support them since they regularly have members in attendance at our Pancake Day. If you are interested in going, please let Barrett know.

Lena is still missing her Cattleman's Day cookbook and would appreciate it finding its way back to the kitchen as soon as possible. If you have any information, please contact Lena or Barrett.
